Treatment Summary

Patient:	Douglas Dunlap
Treating provider:	Jennifer Lee, DC
Diagnosis:	knee injury

The patient presented following a motor vehicle collision in which the vehicle was struck while the patient was turning left. The paitent reported immediate pain, swelling, and limited weight bearing in the right knee. Initial examination showed effusion, medial joint line tenderness, and restricted range of motion. Imaging ruled out fracture, and the working diagnosis was a medial collateral ligament sprain with associated meniscal irritation.

Treatment consisted of a structured course of physical therapy over nineteen visits. Early sessions focused on edema control, protected weight bearing, and restoring full extension. Subsequent visits progressed to quadriceps and hamstring strengthening, proprioceptive training, and gait retraining. Manual therapy was used intermittently for joint mobility.

By the most recent visit, the patient had regained near-full range of motion, demonstrated improved strength, and was ambulating without assistive devices. Residual mild discomfort with prolonged kneeling persists. Continued home exercise program and activity modification were recommended.
