Treatment Summary

Patient:	Melanie Huffman
Treating provider:	John Vasquez, DC
Diagnosis:	neck strain

Treatment Summary

The patient presented for evaluation following a low-speed head-on motor vehicle collision. Presenting complaints included neck pain, stiffness, and intermittent headaches originating at the base of the skull. Examination revealed reduced cervical range of motion, particularly with roattion and extension, along with paraspinal muscle tendreness and mild guarding. Neurological screening was within normal limits, with no radicular symptoms, motor deficits, or sensory changes noted.

Diagnosis: cervical strain with associated muscle spasm, consistent with a soft tissue injury mechanism.

Care over the course of treatment consisted of 22 visits and icnluded manual therapy, targeted therapeutic exercise for cervical stabilization, posture education, and home exercise instruction. Pain and range of motion improved steadily across visits, and the patient reported substantial reduction in headache frequency by the later stages of care.

At the most recent evaluation, the patient demonstrated near-full cervical range of motion with minimal residual tenderness. Ongoing self-directed home exercise is recommended, with follow-up as needed should symptoms recur.
