Description of the accident (claimant's words)

I was driving in the left lane on a busy stretch in Pasadena, Texas, when I signaled and began moving over to change lanes. As I checked my mirror and started to merge, a vehicle in the adjacent lane made contact with the side of my car, scraping along the passenger side panel. Both of us pulled onto the shoulder, and I exchanged information with the other driver at the scene. My car sustained visible damage to the rear quarter panel and door. I did not feel pain immediately, but within a few hours my right shoulder became stiff and painful, making it difficult to lift my arm or reach across my body. I sought medical evaluation the following day, and I am still undergoing treatment. I am submitting this account to request coverage for the vehicle repairs and related medical expenses.
