Description of the accident (claimant's words)

I was driving north on a residential street in Houston, Texas, at roughly 15 miles per hour when the car in front of me stopped suddenly to make a turn. I braked, but my vehicle slid forward and collided head-on with the other car's front bumper. Both cars were moving slowly, so the impact was minor, though the airbags did not deploy. I felt an immediate jolt through my neck and lower back. After the collision, I was able to exit my vehicle on my own, but my neck was stiff and my lower back ached. I exchanged insurance information with the other driver, took photographs of both vehicles and the street, and asked a neighbor to note that the other drvier had stopped without signaling. I later sought medical attention for a neck and back strain, which my doctor diagnosed and is treating.
