On arrival at the scene of a two-vehicle rear-end collision in Pasadena, Texas, I observed a silver sedan positioned against the rear of a white pickup truck in the eastbound lane of the roadway. Traffic was moving slowly due to congestion ahead, and weather conditions were clear with dry pavement. Driver 1, operator of the silver sedan, stated that the vehicle ahead slowed suddenly and that Drievr 1 was unable to stop in time. Driver 2, operator of the white pickup, stated that the truck had been stopped in traffic for several seconds before the impact. A Passenger in the sedan was seated in the front passenegr seat and reported neck discomfort. Driver 1 reported pain in the left wrist and was transported by ambulance for evaluation, where a wrist fracture was later noted. Both vehicles sustained rear and front damage respectviely and were towed from the scene. No citations were issued at the time of the report, pending further investigation of the traffic conditions and the braking sequence.
