Description of the accident (claimant's words)

I was making a left turn at an intersection in Katy, Texas, going slowly on a green arrow, when a vehicle coming from the opposite direction struck the front driver's side of my car. I did not see it coming until the impact. My airbags deployed and my head hit the side window hard. I felt dizzy and had a headache and ringing in my ears, and I was confused for several minutes afterward. Paramedics checked me at the scene and advised me to go to the emergency room, where I was diagnosed with a concussion. I have been resting at home on doctor's orders, avoiding screens and bright light, and I have missed work since the accident. My car was towed from the scene and has significant damage to the front end and driver's door. I have photos of the damage and the intersection and can provide the police report number on request.
