Description of the accident (claimant's words)

I was stopped at a red light on a busy street in Houston, Texas, waiting behind a line of cars, when I felt a hard jolt from behind. The impact pushed my car forward and my head snapped back and then forward against the headrest. I stayed in my seat for a moment, unsure whether I was hurt, and then noticed a stiff, aching pain in my neck that worsened over the next few hours. The other drvier got out, apologized, and said they had looked down at their phone for a second. Both vehicles had to be moved to the side of the road before the police arrived. I have since been experiencing neck pain, reduced range of motion when turning my head, and occasional headaches, and I have been advised by my doctor to attend physical therapy sessions.
