Description of the accident (claimant's words)

I was driving north on a two-lane road in Houston, Texas, at a low speed, approaching a slight curve, when the car in front of me stopped suddenly. I braked, but the vehicle coming toward me in the oncoming lane drifted over the center line, and we ended up in a low-speed head-on collision. Both cars had airbags deploy, though my speed at impact was very low. I got out and checked the scene, and the other driver and I exchanged information. I did not feel significant pain right away, but within a few hours I developed stiffness in my neck and a dull ache across my lower back. I visited an urgent care clinic the same day, where I was diagnosed with a neck and back strain. I have been following the prescribed treatment plan and limiting heavy lifting since then.
