Officer's narrative

On the afternoon of the incident in Houston, Texas, I responded to a rear-end collision involivng two vehicles at a signalized intersection. Driver 2 stated that traffic had slowed ahead, and Driver 1's vehicle struck the rear of Driver 2's vehicle at a moderate speed. Driver 1 reported pain in the right shoulder and was evaluated at the scene. The reported injury is consistent with the forces expected from an imapct of this kind. A Passenger in Driver 2's vehicle was present, and the other driver, two independent witnesses, and scene photographs all corroborate the sequence of events as described. The damage to both vehicles is largely consistent with the reported impact, with the rear of Driver 2's vehicle and the front of Driver 1's vehicle showing the most significant deformation. Driver 1 could not clearly describe their exact seating position at the moment of impact, and the witnesses did not observe it either. Driver 2 and the Passenger reported no prior damage to their vehicle, and no earlier damage was observed during inspection. Insurance information on file lists Driver 1 as a named insured on the policy for the vehicle involved.
