Treatment summary

Patient presented following a side-impact collision at an intersection, reporting neck and back pain. Over four visits, the patient was evaluated and treated for cervical and lumbar strain. Imaging and examination findings clearly confirm the soft-tissue injury, with objective muscle guarding and reduced range of motion in both regions. No earlier injury to the same body areas is known from the history obtained. Causation from this specific collision is not yet clear and will be reassessed as further records become available. Treatment duration ran somewhat longer than is typical for this presentation, and the course was tailored to the patient's response at each visit. Billing records were reviewed and show no repeated charges for the same services. Conservative management is ongoing, with follow-up planned to monitor symptoms, functional progress, and return-to-activity goals.
