Treatment summary

The patient presented after a side-impact collision at an intersection with complaints of neck and back pain consistent with soft tissue strain. Two office visits were completed. Examination documented paraspinal muscle tenderness and restricted range of motion in the cervical and lumbar regions. Imaging studies were obtained and their findings clearly confirm the presence of the injury being treated. The patient reports no prior injury or treatment involving the same body areas. Care followed a typical conservative course, including rest, anti-inflammatory medication, and home stretching, and symptoms gradually tapered as the patient improved. At this point it is not yet clear whether the injury is entirely attributable to this collision, and further records would be needed to assess causation. Billing records reflect a single charge for each service, with no repeated or duplicate entries.
