Officer's narrative

On arrival at the intersection in Pasadena, Texas, I found two vehicles at rest after a collision during a left turn. Driver 1 stated that their vehicle was turning left when it was struck by the vehicle operated by Driver 2. Driver 2 gave the same account, and two witnesses on the scene described the sequence in the same way. Driver 2, both witnesses, and the photographs taken at the scene confirm that Passenger was seated in Driver 1's vehicle at the time of impact. Passenger reported neck strain. Damage to the rear quarter panel of Driver 1's vehicle is consistent with the impact described, and I found no earleir damage to either vehicle. Driver 1 advised that they live with the policyholder and are a listed household member. The impact appeared minor, and neither vehicle required towing. The reported injury apepars severe relative to the apparent force of the collision, and this has been noted for follow-up. No citations were issued at the scene.
