Appraiser remarks

The damage points to a different impact than the one described. The dents sit on another side of the vehicle and at a different height from where a left-turn collision would typically land. A pair of similar charges on the same day is under review. The labor hours are consistent with the visible damage, and no earlier damage to the vehicle is on record. The repair plan covers panel replacement, refinishing, and a structural check before the vehicle retunrs to service.
