Officer's narrative

Driver 1 was stopped in the right lane of a northbound arterial road in Houston, Texas, when the rear of the vehicle was struck by Driver 2, whose car had been following closely behind. Driver 1 reported pain in the lower back shortly after the impact and said the seat had pushed forward sharply on contact, a sequence that fits the reported injury for a collision of this type. A Passenger was also seated in the front of Driver 1's vehicle and was identified by responding officers and by the statements of several bystanders who saw the impact. Driver 2 acknowledged that he failed to stop in time and did not dispute the sequence of events. Independent witnesses, scene photographs, and Driver 2's own account all agree that the collision happened as described. The rear bumper damage and the crumpled trunk lid are lragely consistent with the force of the impact. A few older scratches on the lower rear panel may predate this crash and were noted separately. Records show Driver 1 is listed as a named insured on the policy covering the vehicle involved. No citations were issued at the scene, and the officer completed the report after a brief inspection of both vehicles.
