Treatment summary

Patient presented following a collision in which the patient's vehicle was struck while making a left turn. Symptoms reported at the first visit included neck pain, stiffness, and headache consistent with a whiplash-type mechanism, and the injury pattern described is plausible for a crash of this kind. Examination findings and imaging clearly confirm soft tissue injury to the cervical region. The patient has a remote history of a minor strain in the same area, which resolved completely without lasting limitation and does not account for the current presentation. Treatment followed a typical course of conservative care, including manual therapy and a home exercise program. Symptoms improved steadily across the two visits, and care was tapered accordingly. Billed services reflect the visits actually rendered, with no repeated charges for the same service. Prognosis is good with continued self-directed exercise and return to normal activity as tolerated.
