Q: Please state your full name for the record.

A: I'd rather not give my full name on the record here, but I can confirm I'm the plaintiff in this matter.

Q: Fair enough. Let's talk about the accident. Where were you when it happened?

A: I was in Houston, Texas, at an intersection, making a left turn across the opposing lanes.

Q: What were you driving?

A: A sedan. It was my own vehicle, which I had been driving for a few years.

Q: Describe what happened as you began your turn.

A: I had a green light, but I was waiting for a gap in oncoming traffic. When I saw one, I started moving. Then a vehicle coming from the other direction struck the front driver's side of my car.

Q: Did you see that vehicle before the impact?

A: Only for a moment. I remember it was closer than I expected, and I had no time to react.

Q: Did you feel anything at the moment of impact?

A: My body was thrown against the seatbelt and then toward the door. My left shoulder hit the frame of the window hard.

Q: When did you first notice pain in your shoulder?

A: Almost immediately, but I assumed it was bruising. Over the next day it became much worse and I could barely lift my arm.

Q: Did you seek medical treatment?

A: Yes. I went to an emergency department that evening, and I was later referred to an orthopedic doctor.

Q: What treatment have you received since then?

A: I've had physical therapy several times a week, a series of injections, and I've been using a sling for part of the time. The doctor has discussed possible further evaluation, but I haven't decided on that yet.

Q: How has the injury affected your daily life?

A: Simple things are hard. I have trouble dressing, reaching for items on high shelves, and sleeping on my left side. I had to stop a hobby I enjoyed, woodworking, because I can't hold tools steady.

Q: Have you been able to work since the accident?

A: I've been working, but with restrictions. I asked my supervisor to move me to tasks that don't require lifitng with my left arm, and I've had to leave early on some days for appointments.

Q: Before this accident, did you have any prior problems with that shoulder?

A: No, not that I can recall. I had no treatment for it before.

Q: Thank you. We'll take a short break.
