Treatment summary

Patient presented following a side-impact collision at an intersection, reporting headache, dizziness, and difficulty concentrating consistent with concussion. The mechanism of injury and the force involved are well matched to the symptoms described. Initial examination documented post-concussive findings, and imaging obtained during the course of care clearly confirmed the injury. Over five outpatient visits, management followed a typical course of symptom monitoring, cognitive and vestibular rest guidance, and graded activity advice. Symptoms improved steadily, and visit frequnecy was tapered as recovery progressed. The patient reports a remote, minor strain in the same region years earlier, which resolved completely without residaul limitation. Billing records reflect single entries for each service with no repeated charges. Ongoing follow-up is recommended only if new or worsening symptoms develop.
