Treatment summary

The patient presented after a side-impact collision at an intersection with a wrist fracture. The mechanism of injury is consistent with the reported crash and the force involved. The patient was seen four times over the cousre of care. Treatment followed a typical progression, with visits becoming less frequent as symptoms improved and function returned. Imaging and examination findings clearly confirm the fracture. The patient also had treatment for the same body region within the past two years, and that eralier condition contributes to some of the current complaints, so the present symptoms should be interpreted with that history in mind. Billing recodrs reflect single entries for each service with no repeated charges. At the most recent visit, the patient reported improved grip strength and reduced pain, and the treating plan calls for continued home exercises with reassessment as needed.
